Name: Chloe

Heroic feat: She was accepted into the QBE Sydney Swans Academy, and recently received a cricket award, presented by Aussie cricketer, Alyssa Healy!

FAST FIVE WITH CHLOE

K-Z: Hi Chloe! How did you find out about the QBE Sydney Swans Academy?

C: My club, Pittwater Tigers, sent an email asking my team to trial! I asked my parents, who helped me apply. When I was accepted, I was very happy and grateful, as many other girls didn't make it!

K-Z: When did you join the Academy, and how long had you played AFL beforehand?

C: I joined last year and it's been an amazing journey. I've been playing AFL for three years and getting into the Academy was awesome – I knew all the hard work had paid off!

K-Z: Tell us about your cricket award, and meeting a national team member!

C: The award was for highest run total in a match (36 not out). Meeting Alyssa was cool as she has won many awards and contributes to her team.

K-Z: What are your strengths in AFL and cricket, and what do you need to work on?

C: My strengths in AFL are handballing and kicking with accuracy. I need to work on staying in position and executing the right ball drop. My strengths in cricket are batting and wicket keeping. I need to work on increasing the speed of my bowling.

K-Z: What would you say to any K-Zoners thinking about trying out for a team?

C: I used to worry about everyone's opinion, but you can't let it worry you because you could be the best. Just go out there and smash it!

During the 2019 Star Wars Celebration in Chicago on April 11, an epic mosaic recreation of the Star Wars: A New Hope poster was displayed. The creation even included Luke Skywalker popping out of the wall with his blaster. Made using 84,345 LEGO elements, this reimagined masterpiece took 297 hours to design and construct, weighed over 83kg, and was over 2m tall and 1.8m wide.

ANIMAL NEWS

On August 8, a giant panda named Hao Hao gave birth to two cubs at Pairi Daiza wildlife park in Berlin, Germany! The cubs were actually twins – one male, one female. According to the World Wildlife Fund, there are only 1864 giant pandas in the wild. In 2017, pandas went from 'endangered' to 'vulnerable', so the birth of more giant pandas is a good sign!

COMPETITIVE
REBEL!

STAR WARS PINBALL

Did you know pinball was banned in big US cities, like New York City and Chicago, from the early 1940s to the mid 1970s? Fiorello LaGuardia, New York City mayor until 1945, even ordered that all pinball machines should be smashed and dumped into the Hudson River. The New York City pinball ban ended in 1976, but if it was happening in our town right now, we would totally rebel and play Star Wars Pinball! In this game, 3D characters and vehicles from Star Wars Episodes IV to VIII, as well as Rogue One, Solo: A Star Wars Story, Star Wars Rebels and Star Wars: The Clone Wars come to life as you try to score points. Hitting flippers to move metallic balls around and hit targets may seem simple, but you'll be surprised how quickly you'll become competitive and want to beat the high scores!

STAR WARS JEDI: FALLEN ORDER

ASPIRING
JEDI!

Prefer your games with a storyline, action and adventure? Jedi: Fallen Order has you covered. The game features a totally new Star Wars story, set after Revenge of the Sith. You play as one of the last remaining Jedi and need to complete your training to rebuild the Jedi Order. Prepare for some sweet lightsaber combat, and of course, no Star Wars story is complete without a droid. Star Wars Jedi: Fallen Order introduces BD-1, a droid who helps the hero, Cal Kestis. Fun fact: Snoopy and Woodstock from the Peanuts comics actually inspired BD-1's character!

LEGO STAR WARS: THE SKYWALKER SAGA

Who doesn't love a good LEGO Star Wars game? LEGO Star Wars: The Video Game was first released on Game Boy Advance in 2005 and there have been another five LEGO Star Wars games since. The original game had 59 playable characters from the prequel trilogy, but this new game will be covering the nine core episodes of the Star Wars saga, and also including over 200 playable characters! Will this new release be the best LEGO Star Wars game yet? Looks like we will have to wait and find out!

RISE, SKY

WE HAVE WAY TOO MANY QUESTIONS ABOUT THE TRILOGY FINALE!

HAVING A LAFF

We have already learned a lot about Star Wars: The Rise of Skywalker from official footage. In the first trailer, we saw some mind-blowing action sequences, and got a peek at the remains of a massive spacecraft. It certainly looks like a Death Star! A familiar voice also speaks, but it's the sinister laugh at the end that captured everyone's attention. That evil cackle hasn't featured in a Star Wars movie since 2005 in Revenge of the Sith. Could Darth Sidius, formerly known as Emperor Palpatine and Galactic Emperor, be returning? Fans know all too well what happened to the Dark Lord of the Sith in Return of the Jedi. Did he survive the Death Star's destruction? Are the stories of Darth Plagueis true – could Emperor Palpatine have the power to cheat death?

WALKER

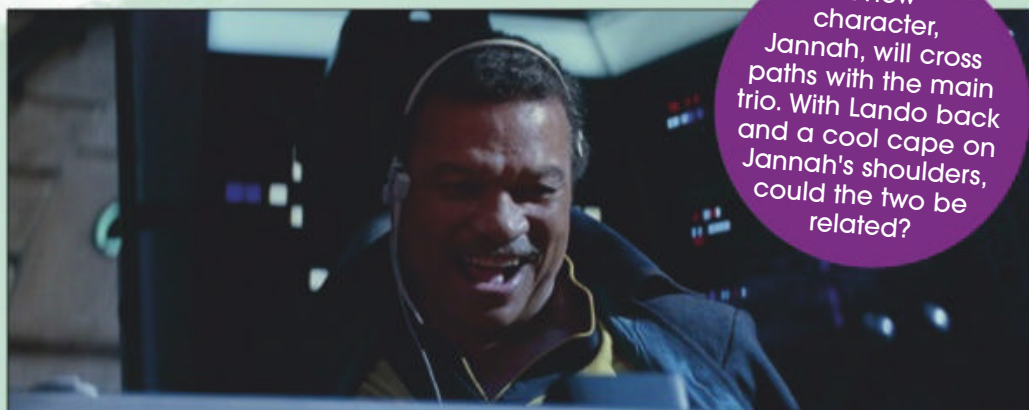

REN-AISSANCE

The end of The Last Jedi was confusing. Rey and Kylo Ren were on the same side, briefly, before going their separate ways. What will Ben Solo do after the events of The Last Jedi? Glimpses of his repaired helmet are shown in trailer footage. Will Kylo continue to fight for the Dark Side, and the First Order? Will he reunite with the Knights of Ren? Is he destined to replace Supreme Leader Snoke?

NEW TOYS

It's not a Star Wars movie without a cute new character, and matching toys! BB-8 won our hearts in The Force Awakens, and the Porgs in The Last Jedi were too fluffy to ignore. This time, fans will fall head over wheels in love with the new droid, D-O! How did BB-8's new bud find our Resistance heroes, and are there any tricks up its sleeve (or in its storage compartment)?

A new character, Jannah, will cross paths with the main trio. With Lando back and a cool cape on Jannah's shoulders, could the two be related?

OLD FRIENDS

The Rise of Skywalker will have reunions aplenty! The biggest return of all is the infamous smuggler, Lando Calrissian. We've already spotted him riding shotgun with his old friend Chewie in the Millennium Falcon. What could his return mean? Is he seeking revenge for the death of Han Solo? Has he decided to join the Resistance and stand against the First Order? Maybe he's just stealing his ship back!

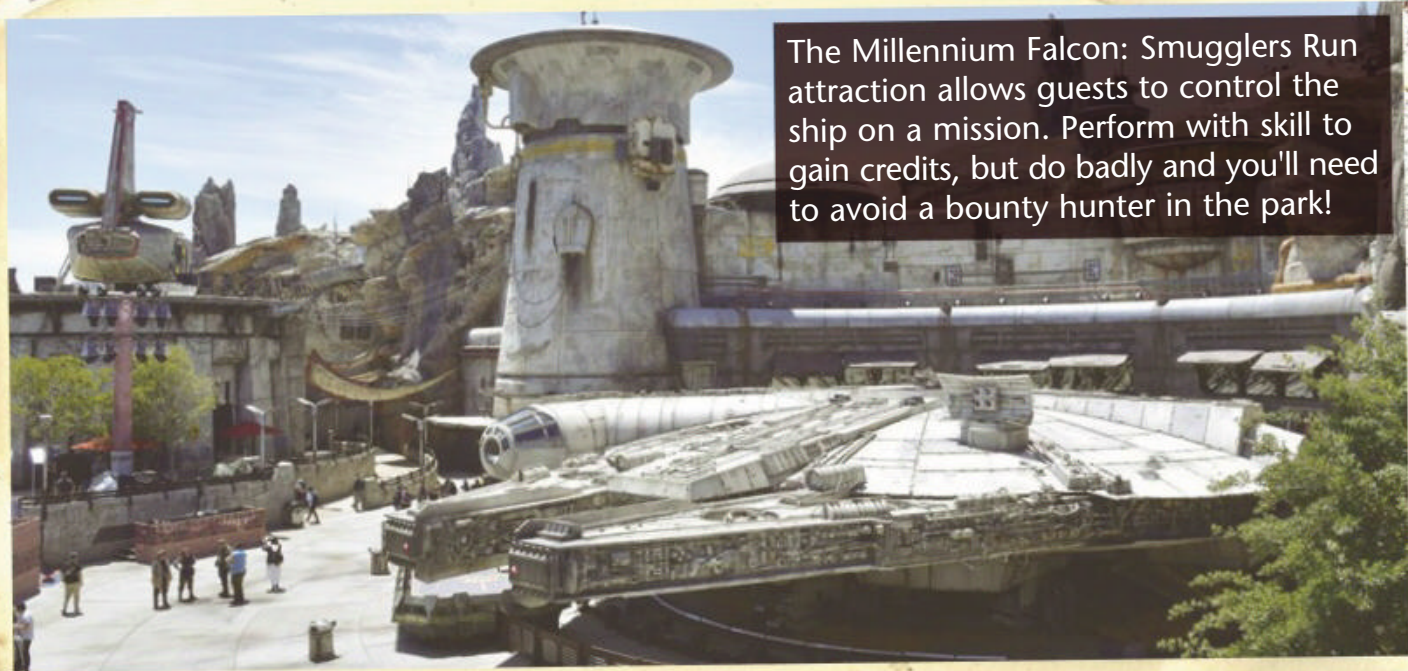

Star Wars: The Rise of Skywalker is in cinemas December 19!

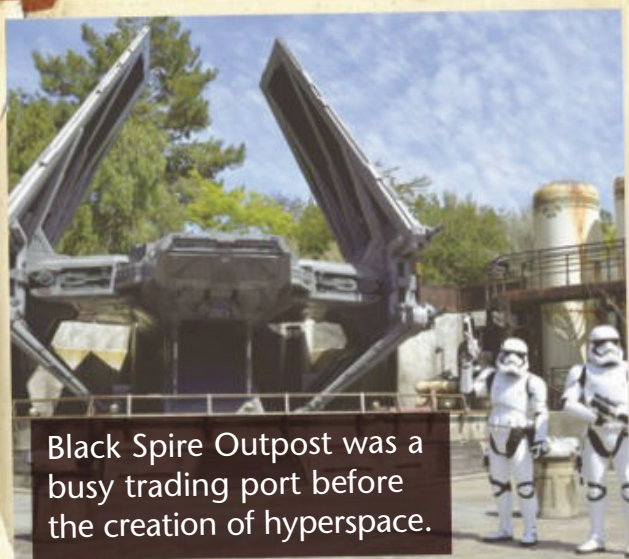

GALAXY

WE'RE BATUU EXCITED ABOUT THIS NEW DISNEY THEME PARK!

Star Wars: Galaxy's Edge is a themed land in California, and in Florida! Galaxy's Edge takes place within the village of Black Spire Outpost on Batuu, a wild frontier planet. Galaxy's Edge features attractions, shops, restaurants and entertainment, but most importantly, it's like walking into a Star Wars movie! You can feel the vibe of the Batuu streets, smell and taste the galactic food, and mingle with smugglers, bounty hunters and rogue adventurers!

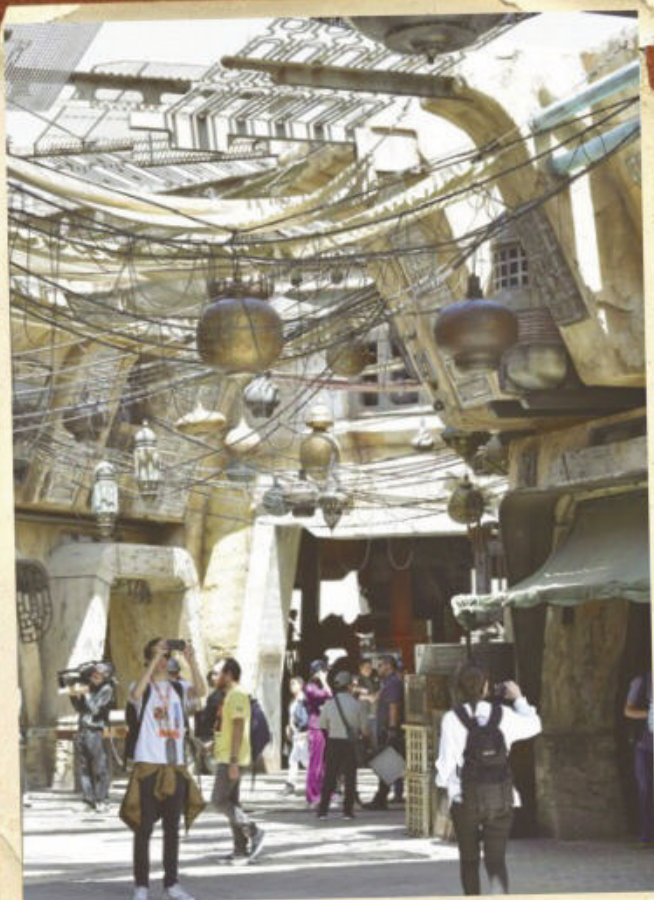

The Millennium Falcon: Smugglers Run attraction allows guests to control the ship on a mission. Perform with skill to gain credits, but do badly and you'll need to avoid a bounty hunter in the park!

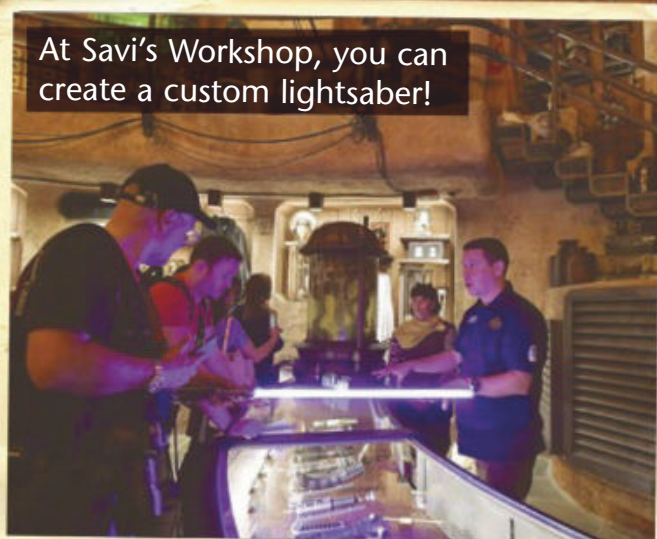

Black Spire Outpost was a busy trading port before the creation of hyperspace.

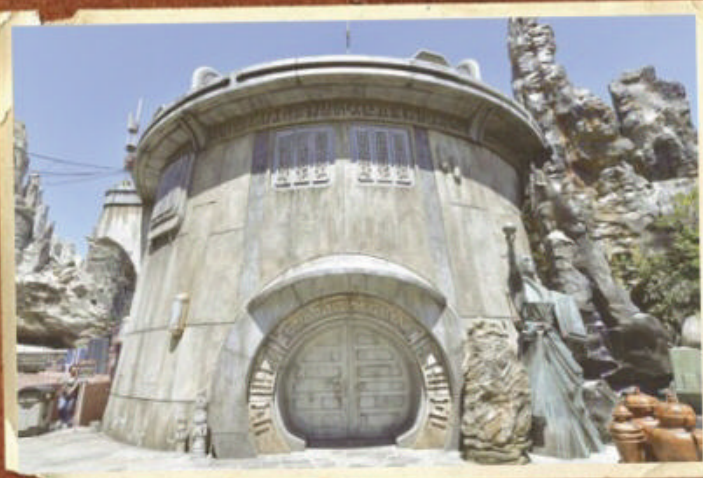

THE EDGE

At Savi's Workshop, you can create a custom lightsaber!

Star Wars legends Harrison Ford, Mark Hamill, Billy Dee Williams and creator George Lucas attended the dedication ceremony on May 29, 2019.

RX-24, or 'DJ R-3X', provides the music in Oga's Cantina!

RESIST

REMEMBER THESE DEETS BEFORE STAR WARS: RESISTANCE'S FINAL SEASON!

EPISODE 19: DESCENT

Commander Pyre tries to arrest Team Fireball, but Bucket and CB-23 help them escape. However, Tam surrenders, believing it is a mistake. She meets First Order Agent Tierny, who tells her Kaz is a Resistance spy. Meanwhile, Neeku, Kaz, Yeager and CB-23 sink the Colossus until only Doza Tower remains above water, and CB transmits a request for help from Kaz to General Leia Organa. Yeager is captured by Pyre, and Kaz learns General Organa can't spare any ships, but has sent coordinates for the next Resistance base.

EPISODE 20: NO ESCAPE PART 1

MASTER MANIPULATOR

Agent Tierny shows Tam a holorecording of Yeager saying he is a Resistance spy. Tam is shocked, and angry that Yeager didn't trust her. Tierny promises that Tam can be a pilot if she joins the First Order.

WAR BEGINS

As the episode ends, CB-23 battles a First Order droid to protect Kaz and Torra. They sneak into Doza Tower to rescue Yeager and Captain Doza, but witness a First Order transmission. On Starkiller Base, General Hux orders the gunners to fire, and a colossal energy beam destroys several planets in a distant star system. Kaz is devastated, as the Hosnian system, and his homeworld, Hosnian Prime, are now gone.

EPISODE 21: NO ESCAPE PART 2

With Yeager and Captain Doza rescued, Neeku flushes stormtroopers off the ship with water from submerged parts of the Colossus. Tierny and Pyre decide to leave and take Tam, but Yeager and Kaz try to stop them. Tam chooses the First Order. Neeku is forced to jump into hyperspace when a Star Destroyer arrives, but fails to enter complete coordinates. The crew has no idea where they will end up when they exit hyperspace...

GUINNESS WORLD RECORDS

IMPERIALLY IMPRESSIVE!

LARGEST DISPLAY OF LEGO STAR WARS MINIFIGURES

Look closely and you'll see that this massive stormtrooper helmet is actually made with LEGO Star Wars stormtrooper minifigs from the Imperial Dropship – 20th Anniversary Edition set. There were 36,400 minifigs included in the helmet, which was 6.93m wide and 6.88m long. LEGO created the artwork for the 2019 Star Wars Celebration on April 11 in Chicago, USA. It took 16 hours for a team of 12 people to build the minifigs, and another 22 hours to assemble the full display!

NEXT LEVEL

JASON SUDEIKIS VOICES RED, THE ANGRIEST BIRD AND HERO!

KZ: Hi Jason! How did you get into character?

J: I just took the anger I feel inside me, pulsing through my body at any given time, and channeled that into the microphone. They animate it and that's it.

KZ: Have you ever played the game?

J: I've played Angry Birds maybe 10 times because I love games. I love gaming, but I don't use my phone much to play games.

KZ: Is Red calmer in this movie?

J: He's less angry at the beginning but when the Pigs and the Birds sign a treaty, he doesn't quite understand his purpose and role and he's very scared because if there isn't a war going on, then who is he? It kicks up some of his old demons, for sure.

GET THE LOWDOWN ON THE NEW ANGRY

BIRD BEGINNINGS

The Angry Birds game has been downloaded over 4 billion times, but did you know it was created when the Finnish company, Rovio, was close to shutting down? In 2009, making a game for the brand new iPhone (which had only been around since 2007) was their last shot. One night, designer Jaakko Iisalo started drawing birds, which turned into a flock of angry birds that destroyed things. When the company decided that the birds needed an enemy, he drew a pig character that he had been drawing since he was 10 years old!

SAVE THE WORLD

The Birds and Piggies aren't just teaming up on screen; the movie characters have also joined forces with the United Nations for the ActNow campaign. With help from their voice actors, the characters worked to spread awareness about how everyone's actions can combat climate change!

L BIRD BEEF

BIRDS AND BAD PIGGIES ADVENTURE!

A THIRD ISLAND

In The Angry Birds Movie 2, all the citizens of Bird Island and Piggy Island are stuck in a long prank war until gigantic ice balls suddenly fall from the sky. Both the islands are sub-tropical, so it makes no sense. The Birds and Piggies discover a new island; Eagle Island! It is a frozen island with snow and ice, but it also has a volcano. Keep an eye out for a lot of colour and textures on Eagle Island!

The Angry Birds Movie 2 lands in cinemas September 12!

STERLING K. BROWN VOICES GARRY, A NEW CHARACTER WHO IS ALSO A TECH WIZ!

KZ: Hi Sterling! Garry loves tech, but do you?

S: I have got a few cameras, radios and game systems. I do enjoy it – but I’m not a big geek when it comes to tech. It’s an important part of modern society so you can’t get along without it – unless you’re a person who doesn’t use technology: a technophobe.

KZ: Did you play the Angry Birds game to help get into character?

S: I played the game and wore out so many batteries playing the game.

KZ: Do you think the Piggies and Birds can co-exist together?

S: Why not? Why not, I say. Why can’t we all just get along? It’s been too long, with all the pigs and birds up to their shenanigans. It’s time to come together and that’s what they’re doing in this movie.

HEROIC HACKER

ANYA CHALOTRA PLAYS ROBIN LOXLEY IN SHERWOOD!

IF I OWNED ROBIN'S GAUNTLET FOR A DAY...

I'd try and figure out how to turn off social media!

MY FAVE EPISODE SO FAR IS DEFINITELY...

The first one, for personal reasons. It was when we were all figuring out who Robin was and what this new world could be. I remember the excitement and fun we had exploring possibilities together.

THE HARDEST PART OF BEING ROBIN...

Was the whole process of recording. It was a challenge. I really had to trust my instincts with the way I delivered lines because I didn't have the responses from the other characters, which in turn would prompt my responses in an organic and truthful way. In the studio it's just you and the director recording different ways you can say a line. As an actor it was a freeing challenge for the perfectionist in me. I had to give up control and leave the story telling to the directors.

OTHER THAN ACTING, I LOVE...

Painting, and I have a passion for food and cooking. I love the sea and being next to it – there's nothing like the sound of waves.

MY ADVICE FOR ANY K-ZONERS WHO WANT TO ACT IS...

Fail, fail again, and fail better. Take the work seriously, not yourself. Practise listening. Don't judge; be curious and always ask questions. Never stop discovering.

IF I COMPARE MYSELF TO ROBIN...

I found so much of myself in her! I remember having fun with her parting phrase, 'See ya', every time I delivered it, because it was usually said when she had the upper hand and she loves everyone knowing it. I found her attitude to challenges easy to connect to; the belief that she can do anything she puts her mind to is something I've always lived by. The way Robin deflects her feelings in awkward witty remarks with Iniko is something I'm very good at too.

IDEAS LAB

SCIENCE, TECHNOLOGY, ENGINEERING, ART AND MATHS!

Meet Mark Gasson, Director of Research and Innovation for Wow! Stuff. Wow! Stuff invents toys based on movies and TV, like the Harry Potter Invisibility Cloak! Mark finds ways to use tech so the team can turn ideas into amazing items!

K-Z: Hi Mark! What experience did you have before becoming Director?

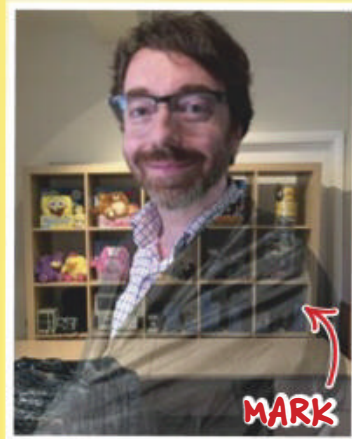

M: I studied control engineering at university and graduated with a Ph.D. in neuroscience and engineering. I continued as a research fellow at university, developing ways to connect robotic hands to nerves in the human arm, and using electrodes implanted in the brain to help people with Parkinson's disease. As a side project, we started a company to develop robotic toys and made an animated monkey called 'Dave' that sits on your shoulder and talks! You may think that robot monkeys and brain implants have nothing in common, but both are examples of how people and technology can connect and interact with each other!

K-Z: Did any childhood activities give you skills that you use now at work?

M: I was in the technical crew designing lighting and special effects for stage shows at school. I enjoyed seeing where engineering and the arts met, and I think it helped me be more creative.

K-Z: How does the Cloak work?

M: We create the illusion of invisibility using a smart device camera and an app. The Cloak app uses 'double exposure', a photography trick which overlays two images on top of each other. The app combines it with 'green screen', a modern movie effect which finds and replaces green objects it detects through the camera, like the green lining of the cloak.

K-Z: Tell us a surprising fact!

M: The Sorting Hat placed me in Slytherin! I also have a microchip in my left hand that I used for research experiments, and now use to automatically open my laboratory door.

K-Z: Any advice for K-Zoners who want to work in a similar role?

M: Be creative, curious and ask 'Why?' Good engineers become great inventors by being interested in how things work and looking for ways to use engineering skills and knowledge to solve problems, and create amazing things!

NOTHING BUT NET

MATTHEW 'DELLY' DELLAVEDOVA CHATS ABOUT BASKETBALL AND BOOKS!

I STARTED PLAYING BASKETBALL...

When I was four and my mum picked me up from kindergarten on a Friday afternoon to go to skills training. I always loved basketball – it was my number one sport! It was always my dream, for as long as I can remember, to represent Australia at an Olympic Games and play in the NBA.

THERE IS NOTHING BETTER THAN...

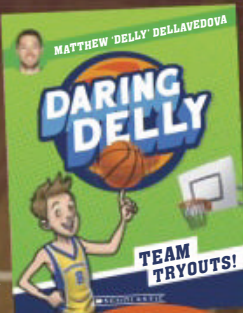

Pulling on the green and gold, for me! That has always been a dream of mine and I have never taken the opportunity to play for the Boomers for granted.

I'VE BEEN PART OF BIG WINS, LIKE...

The NBA championship, Olympic Games and Vic Country National title in Under 16s – but one of the most memorable wins was in Under 12s, winning a Division 3 State Title for the Maryborough Blazers with my mates in double overtime.

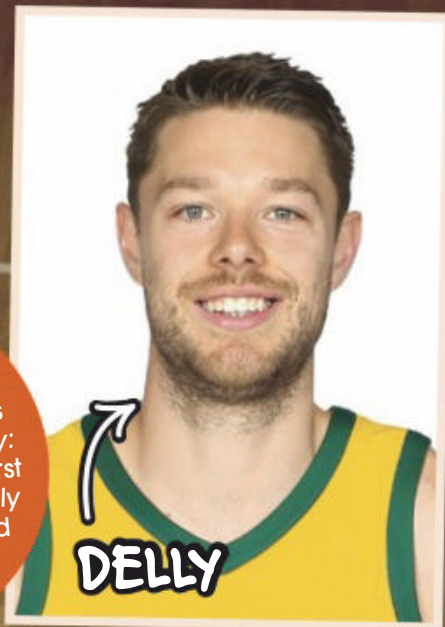

I'VE ALWAYS LOVED READING BOOKS...

Because my mum, sister and wife are school teachers and I know it's important to develop good reading habits, so you keep learning.

DID YOU KNOW?

Delly has released his first book, Daring Delly: Team Tryouts. It's the first in the new Daring Delly series, and is inspired by his experiences!

IN DARING DELLY: TEAM TRYOUTS, THE CHARACTER DELLY IS...

Very much like me. I've had to bounce back from disappointments and setbacks. That's a big part of sport and life; how you respond to things. I always try to be a great teammate and friend, so I wanted to emphasise the importance of that throughout the book.

MY FAVOURITE SHOT IS...

A floater, to get it over the top of those 7ft shot blockers.

MY FAVOURITE PASS IS...

An alley-oop that leads to a teammate's dunk. It's an exciting play and you need to be in sync with your teammate.

DELLY'S TOP TIPS FOR SHOOTING

-  Eyes on the target – the hoop.
-  Have your knees bent, and arms loose.
-  Shoot in one motion, with arms and legs going at the same time.

PIECE OF MIND

TT Games' Associate Producer James Burgon helps us pick apart the millions of pieces that make LEGO Star Wars: The Skywalker Saga!

KZ: Real talk. Is this the old LEGO Star Wars games with some shiny new pieces?

J: Nope. That's not our style! The game is expanding, like the universe. It's just getting bigger. It's basically our love letter to Star Wars.

KZ: How big is that LEGO Super Star Destroyer?

J: The Super Star Destroyer is 100 metres long. It's over a million bricks. You can actually pilot the Millennium Falcon and dock into it, so you fly in and all the interiors are made of LEGO as well.

KZ: Did you build the Super Star Destroyer IRL?

J: I don't know if anyone built it in the real world. That's a million bricks. That's a lot of the budget on LEGO! We have software, and we work with LEGO on certain pieces to make it the best.

KZ: Did you use a LEGO set as a scale guide?

J: The Falcon. We always try and incorporate them one-to-one where we can. From there, we built the scale for the rest. Obviously they just grow, trying to actually get them all to scale. It really feels authentic but it's all made with LEGO.

KZ: How many different minifigs are in this massive LEGO Star Wars universe?

J: Probably 400, when you consider the NPCs and alien races. We've got Aqualish, Devaronians, Jawas and Neimoidians. The list goes on. We want to populate every planet with indigenous creatures.

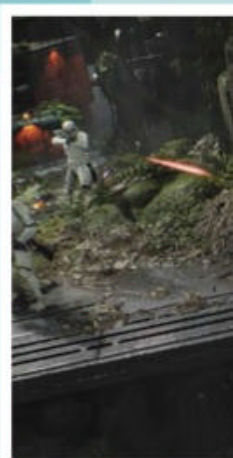

KZ: How has the combat changed?

J: We've got different combos now. No more shooting and hoping for the best. You can add flair to how you dispatch enemies. It means every character is fun to play.

KZ: We noticed C-3PO was falling apart a little?

J: It's an evolution really from the original LEGO Star Wars. If he got shot, he might lose a leg and he hops around. We thought, 'Let's just go one further and make him actually be able to pop his whole torso off and then mill around.'

JEDI HUNTING

Respawn Entertainment Game Director Stig Asmussen shines some light (side) on Star Wars Jedi: Fallen Order!

KZ: What's the skinny on Star Wars Jedi: Fallen Order?

S: This is a game about a Jedi, or somebody who aspires to be a Jedi, or may potentially become a Jedi.

KZ: Sounds mysterious. How did you decide what to show off first in a Star Wars game?

S: We make sure we have enough stuff that gives us a moment with Star Wars spectacle, but also core gameplay like lightsaber combat.

KZ: What makes for great Star Wars spectacle?

S: An AT-AT sequence! You see the inside of an AT-AT for the first time. We worked with the crew at Lucasfilm to come up with the design – something faithful to what we expect would be in there.

KZ: Are there rules for playing in the Star Wars universe?

S: You have to make sure it's something conceivable with something that exists, or something new and conceivable within Star Wars.

KZ: How easy is it to create a new type of stormtrooper?

S: The purge trooper was the first thing approved by Lucasfilm! It took us a year and a half to get it approved. We only got [the hero] Cal Kestis approved in October 2018, but had been working on him from day one. The Inquisitor was the second thing approved.

KZ: Why were the purge troopers first?

S: The purge troopers were going to show up in a comic book and we needed to have the art done.

KZ: What was the hardest thing to get approved?

S: The Mantis – the spaceship.

KZ: It's a sweet ship! We want a Mantis LEGO set!

S: So do I. Maybe someday there will be. Making a canon game, there's potential it can show up in all these different formats.

KZ: What Fallen Order toys would you wanna see?

S: You could potentially get a lightsaber hilt, or action figures and toys of the character you've created. It would be really cool!

PRO TIP!

It may look new, but Link's Awakening has the old school gameplay of the original game. This means certain parts can't be played until you score the right gear. Make a mental note when something blocks your way, then come back and conquer it with the right equipment!

THE LEGEND OF ZELDA: LINK'S AWAKENING

The rumours are totes true. A Zelda Game Boy game has been completely rebuilt for Switch, and it's absolutely legendary!

The words 'wind' and 'fish' don't really fit together, but in The Legend of Zelda: Link's Awakening, you're trying to wake up a Wind Fish with a bunch of band instruments... coz it lives in a giant egg, on the top of a smoky volcano. Yep. If that wasn't already odd enough, keep an eye out for Ninty cameos. There are Chain Chomps, Goombas, Shy Guys and Piranha Plants. Link's Awakening is more than just a cool crossover. It's a beloved Zelda game, and now it's a whole lot prettier on the Switch.

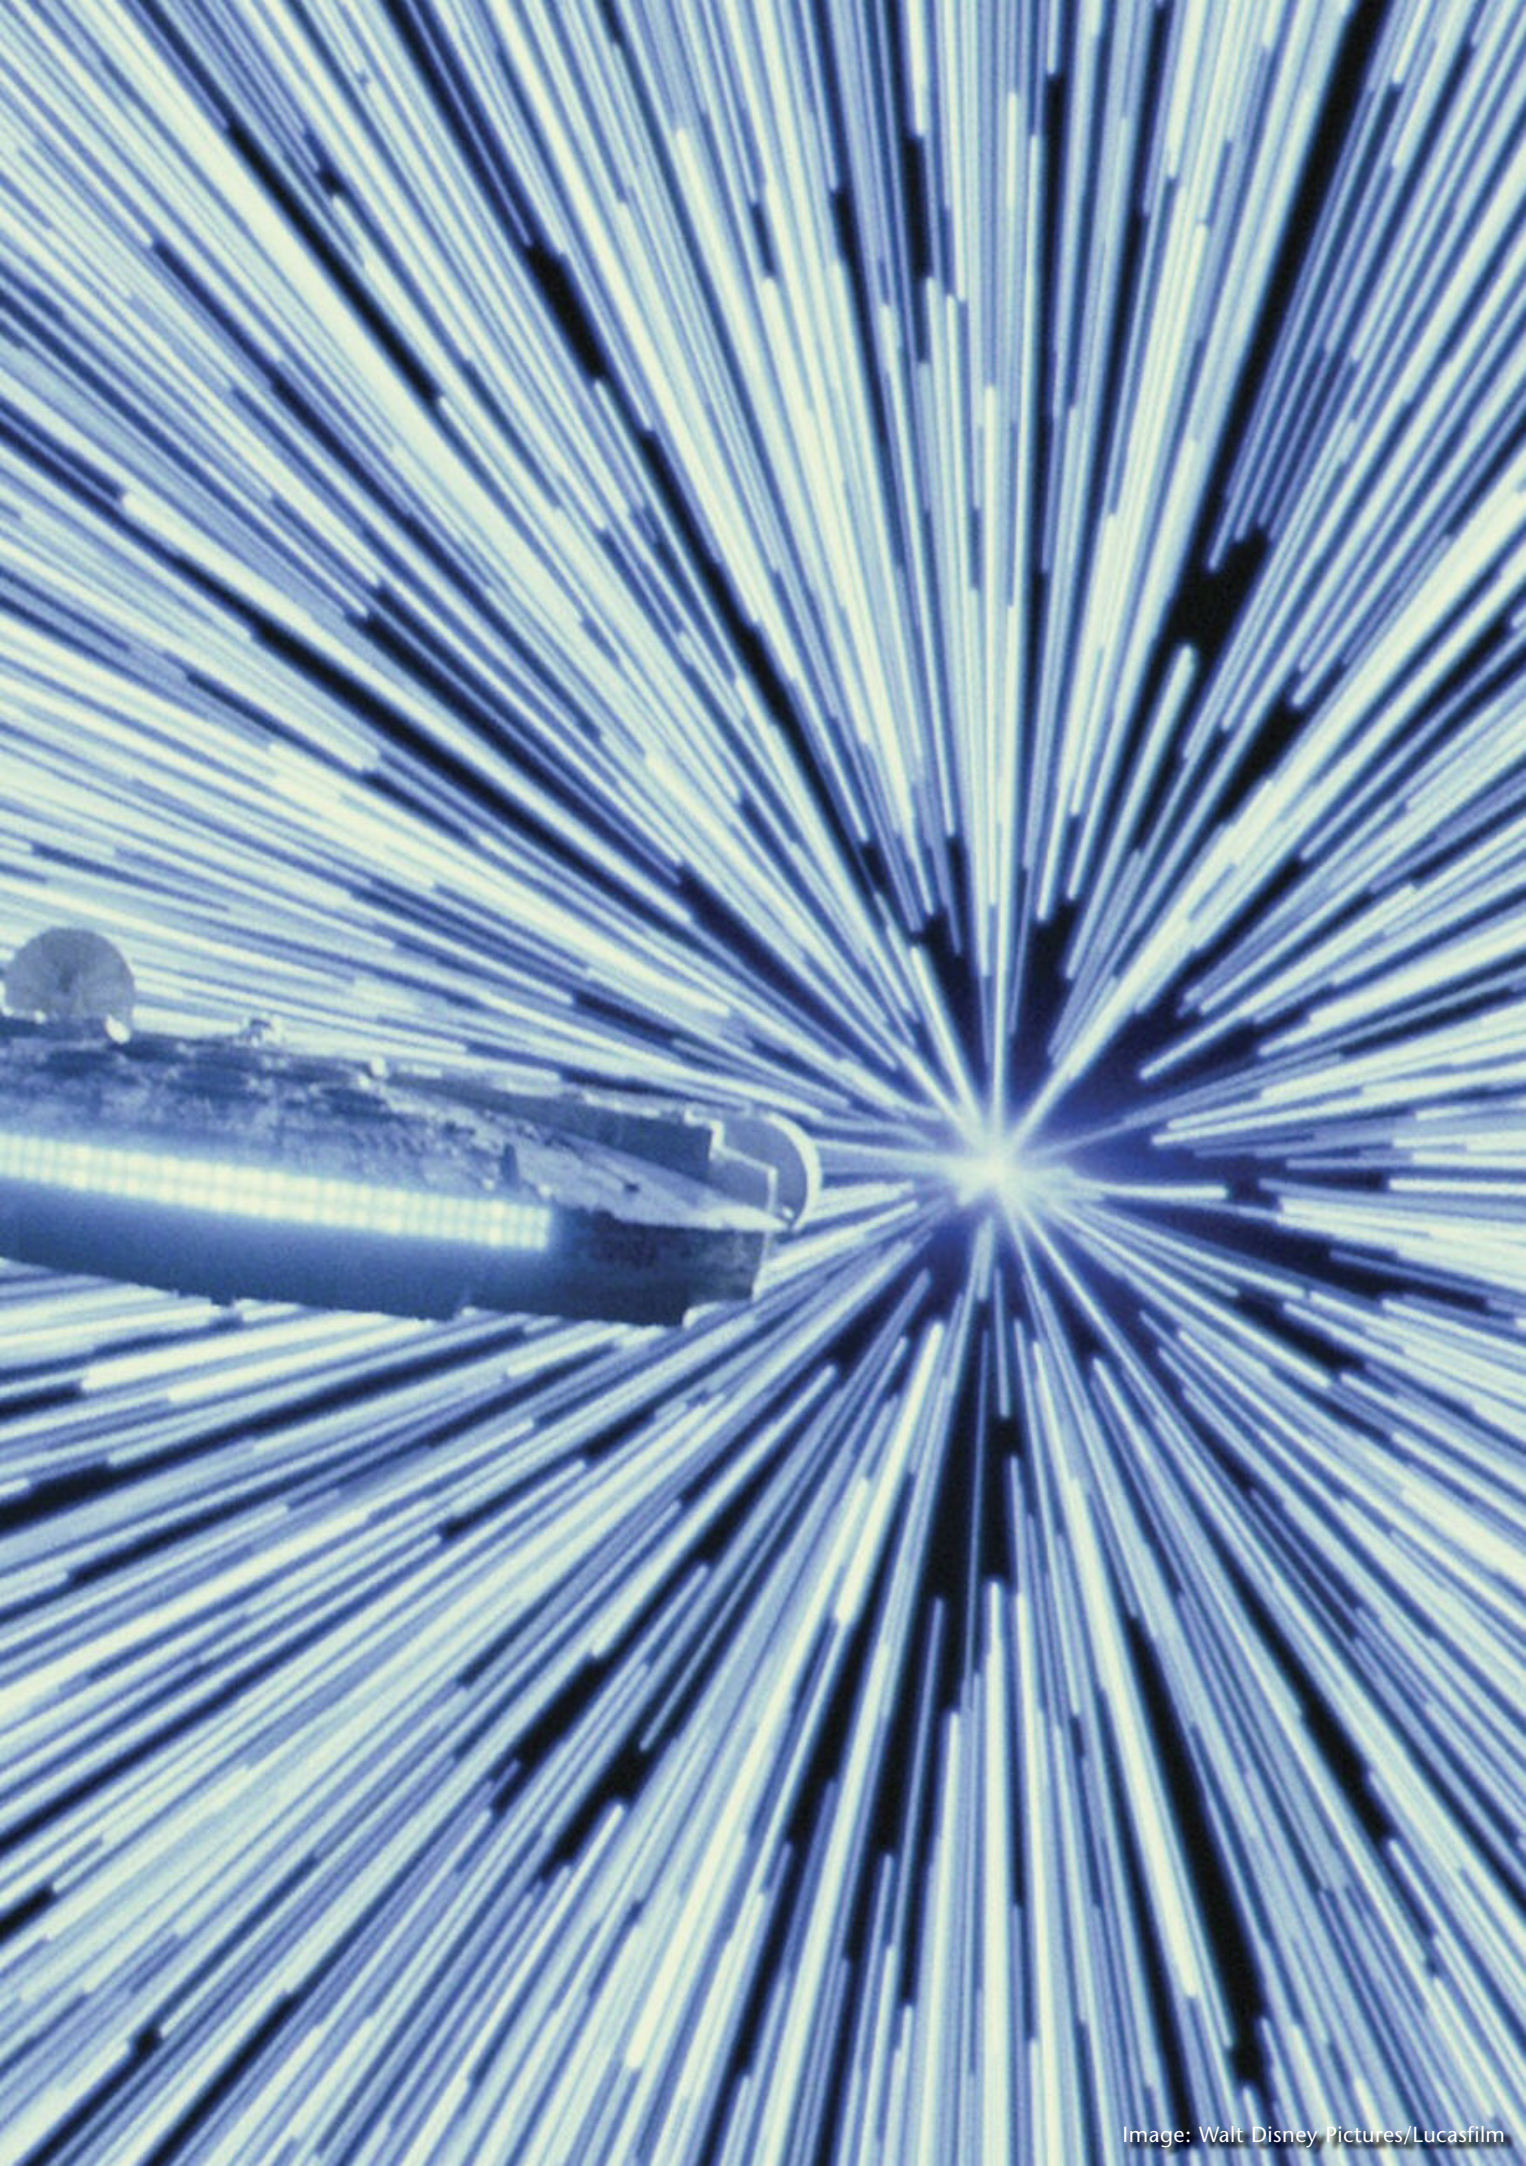

Tackle reimagined moments from the original game by smacking baddies, cracking puzzles and outsmarting traps. There's also new stuff, like earning dungeon rooms, and building Chamber Dungeons for side challenges.

You score 'em by besting the main dungeons or the fun minigames!

PRO TIP!

WRC 8 is built as a realistic off-road racing sim, but it's totes OK to race with the training wheels on! Start on an easy difficulty, get a feel for the rad rally cars and tricky tracks, then jump into the settings and shift the sliders for a more arcade driving experience.

WRC 8

WRC may officially stand for 'World Rally Championship', but unofficially, we would like to say it stands for 'Wild Rally Cars' in WRC 8!

Your main competitor in WRC 8 is the clock. Forget about cars nudging you out of your perf racing line. Instead, you'll be solo tackling tough tracks at impossible speeds. Shallow curve coming? Fang right around it. Tricky hairpin corner up next? Better pump the handbrake! Rally cars are built for taming dirt, but all that dirt and mud can still make driving a very slippery high speed pursuit. We actually love how the in-game weather can rain on your racing parade (in a fun way). Start off a time trial well and you'll only score a few pitter-patter drops at the finish line. If you spend more time off the off-road track than on it, you'll get hit with a lot of rain, a lot earlier. Now, you will be racing with buckets of rain, and the bigger battle will be in getting used to spending more time skidding sideways than you'll be burning rubber forwards. Find the right rally ride for you, and set an incred track time.

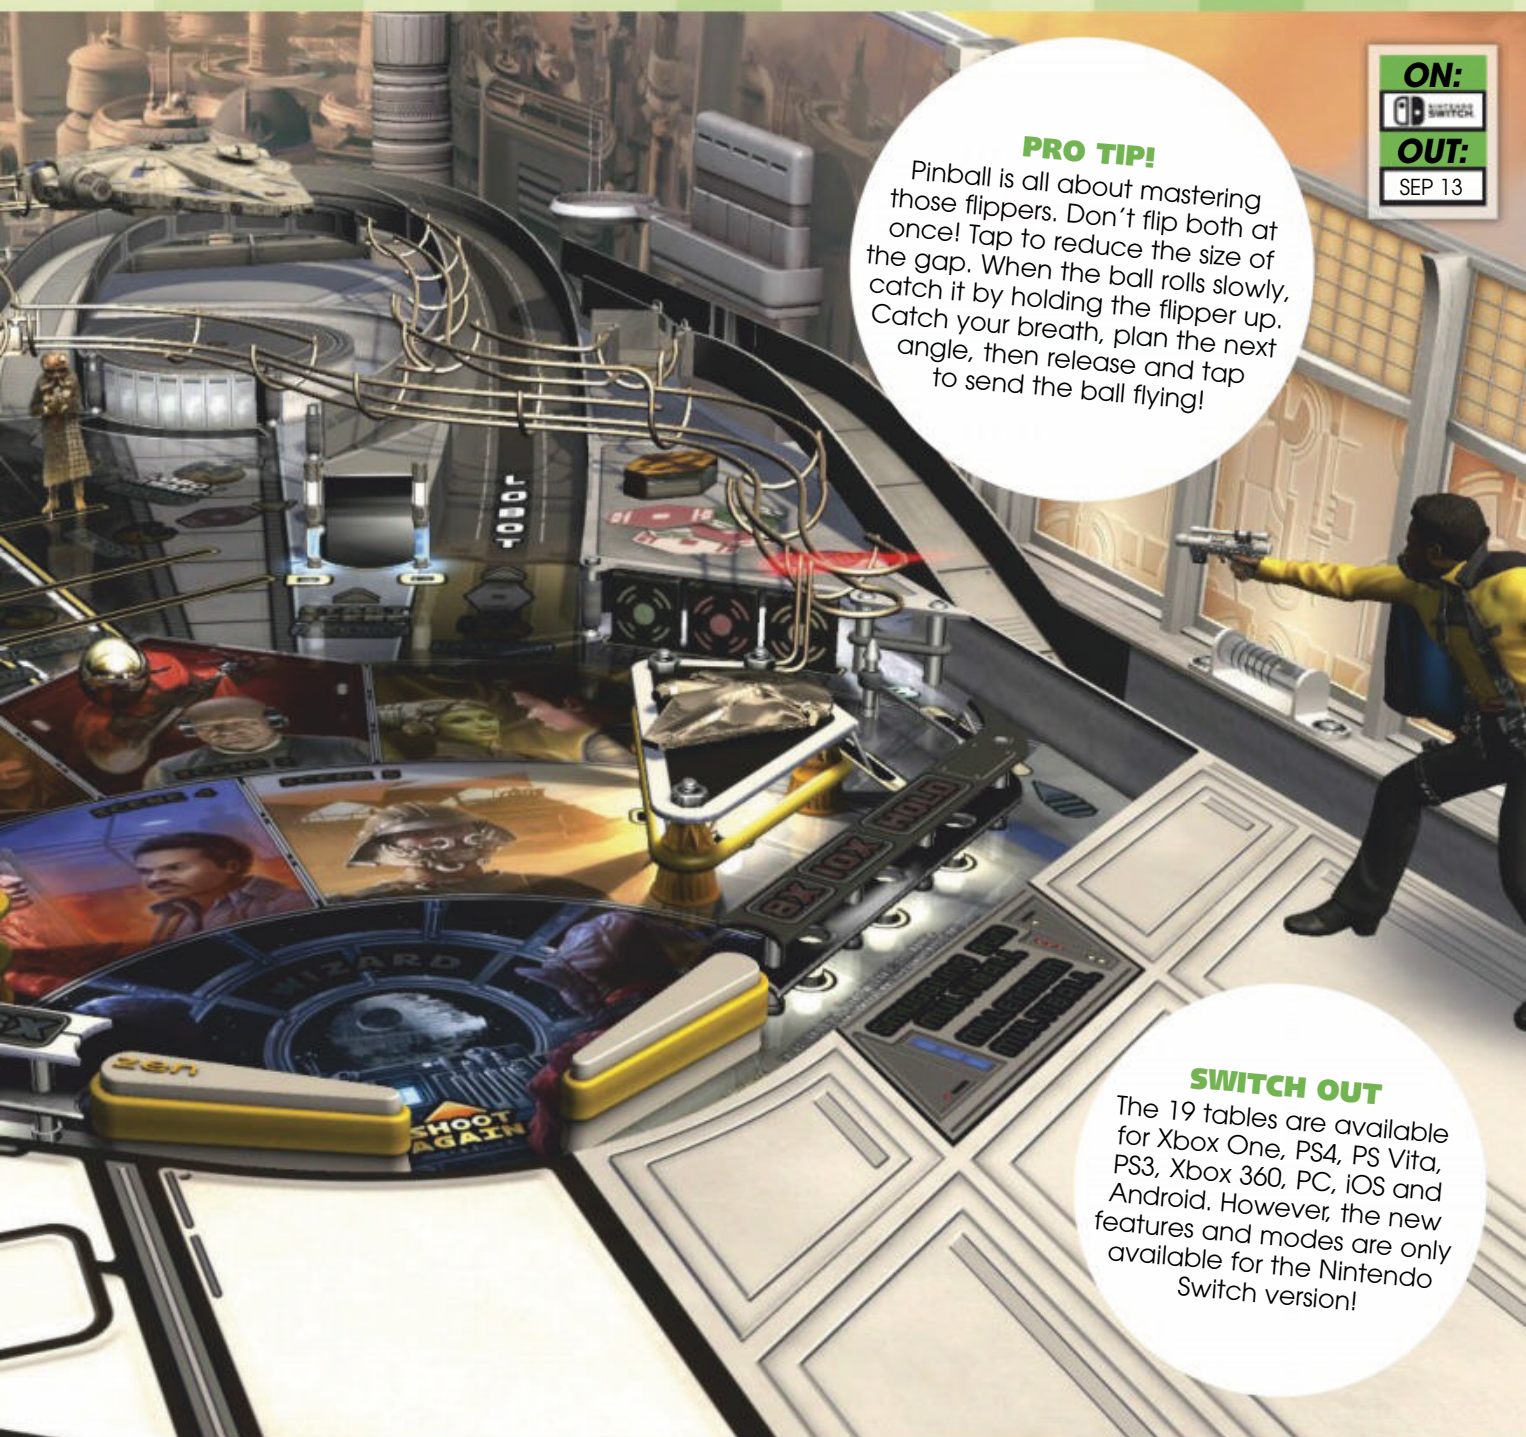

STAR WARS PINBALL

The greatest power in the galaxy isn't the Force, it's the pinball you bounce around to stack up the highest scores possible!

Whether you're pinballing for the light side or the dark side, there's a galaxy far, far away that needs you in its ongoing galactic struggle.

Star Wars Pinball has been doing flips on other platforms for a long time, but this sweet spaceship has just landed on Switch! The Switch version crams in a cool collection of 19 Star Wars-themed pinball tables. Chase high scores across the marvellous movies. Score big on the crazy Clone Wars and ridiculous Rebels tables. Depending on your own allegiance, battle with or against dastardly Darth Vader, heroic Han Solo, bounty-hunting Boba Fett and all of your favourite droids. There is also a shiny new career mode to play, with 50 ranks to move through (and collect a few high scores on the way). We have played a round or two of Star Wars Pinball on other platforms in our time, but the Switch is our current fave. Why? Well, the HD Rumble lets you feel the full Force of the table (just like IRL pinball) and vertical orientation converts your Switch into a Yoda-sized table.

Layton's Mystery Journey: Katrielle and the Millionaires' Conspiracy – Deluxe Edition is more than just a mouthful. The game is all about big questions. Where are these mighty millionaires? It's a whole zoo world – don't you dare close your eyes! We'll show you a game that's all about helping the circle of life with building and conservation!

There are a lot of great zoos IRL and now you can follow in their footsteps in Planet Zoo. Build the best habitats, pack in exciting exhibits to keep the visitors entertained, and upgrade the zoo with the right research. Fill every possible space with any beast, creature, critter and animal from around the world! The bigger you make your own park, the more exotic beasts you can fit, but unfortunately, that also means more poo in your zoo. Thankfully, Planet Zoo has a handy vacuum, so you can keep all the guests focused on something other than the stinky stuff. That's just one of the details you'll be able to spot when zoomed in. Zoom out to see the ever-expanding zoo. You can build in big sections, or put it together piece by piece. Your choices impact visitors and, naturally, your zoo's residents too. Planet Zoo also includes the players in a conversation about conservation. As your zoo critters start families, you can introduce them back into the wild.

HOW TO DRAW A

STORM

1 SKETCHY SOLDIERS

Start by lightly sketching the outline of a stormtrooper with your pencil. The head is pear shaped, with a crosshair to mark the centre of the face, and the eyeline. To create the body section, draw the short hot dog shape. Draw cylinders for the arms and legs, then two cylinders on top of each other for the shape of the blaster.

2 HEY THERE, BUCKETHEAD

Draw a pair of triangular shaped eyes and a curved line above the eyes. Add a frowny 'mouth' below the eyes, ear pieces on both sides of the face, and then the dome-shaped top. For the rest of the helmet, draw the two round holes and centre details below the mouth, and then the wide cheek area and side details.

5 WHAT'S LEFT?

To draw the left arm, draw the shoulder guard and the upper arm first. Follow that with the forearm guard and details, then gloves and fingers.

6 IMPERIAL BODY

Draw the chest area first, then add in the midsection and the body details. Draw the ridged belt, the two rectangles on both sides of the body and the crotch guard.

TROOPER

3 THE RIGHT STUFF

Draw the right arm first. Start with the shoulder guard, then add the upper arm. Now, draw the forearm guard and other details before you add gloves and fingers.

4 BLASTER MASTER

For this guide, we have added a basic blaster design with simple details for you to try out. Draw the trigger guard next to the right trigger finger first, and then add details above that trigger guard. Draw the scope and barrel of the blaster. Add the front tip of the blaster and the front sight.

7 STEP RIGHT UP

Start with the left leg and draw the side guards, then the blaster. Now, just draw the thigh, knee guard, lower leg and boot, then add the details. When you draw the right leg, start with the thigh and details. The right leg doesn't have a knee guard and you will be drawing ridged details on the knee area instead. Draw the lower leg and boot, then add in details.

8 TEXTA TRACE

Trace over all of the pencil marks with a thick black pen or fine tip marker. Make any adjustments and clean up the details.

K-ZONE TIP

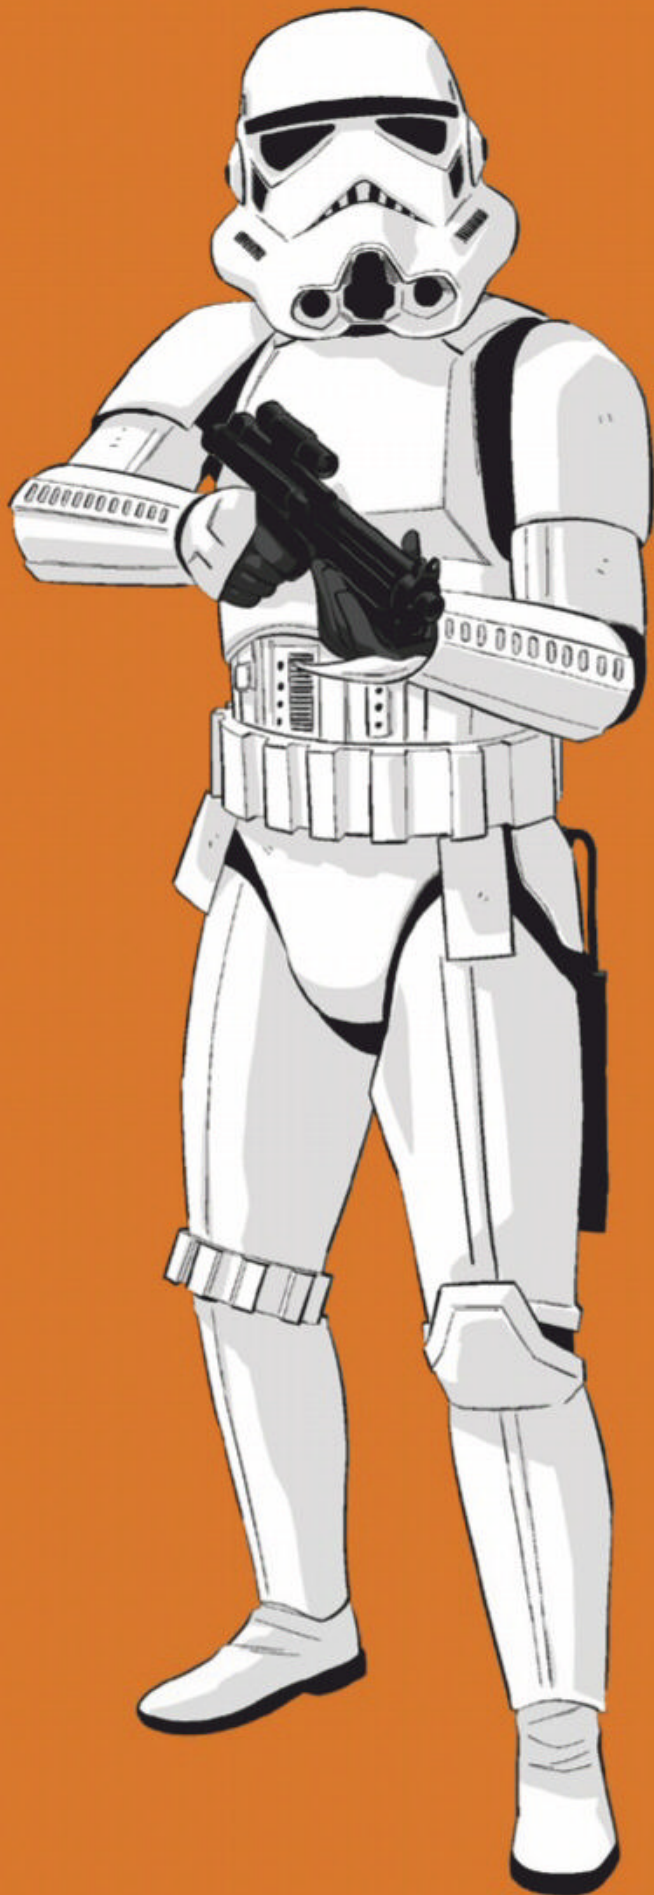

Use a Texta Nylorite colouring marker to trace over your pencil marks!

TEXTA TROOPER

Once all the ink has dried, carefully erase the pencil marks. Finally, shade the light and dark grey areas. Your new stormtrooper is ready for duty!

COUNTERFEIT COFFEE

Save any empty coffee packets or tins, and fill them up with cocoa or chocolate powder. When no one is around, restock the cupboard with this new (tastier) alternative. Play it cool and just wait to see what will happen the next time a parent has a cuppa!

CAP TRAP

Take an empty water bottle. Put glue in the cap and twist it back onto the bottle ever so slightly. Allow the glue to harden, and then ask your mates to compete in the Bottle Cap Challenge. LOL!

K-ZONER PRANK SAME SAME GAME

For your mufti day at school, convince as many of your classmates as you can to dress up as the first person on your roll call list. When that person's name is called, everyone should say 'Present!' at the same time.

SLINGSHOT SAGA

Paint several ping-pong balls red, yellow and black. Tie elastic bands together to make a sling, and secure it to a chair as shown. Launch ping-pong 'Birds' at anyone in range. Be careful where you aim and if anyone asks, it's a screen time alternative!
